COMMISSIONERS' COURT.

Commissioners' Court convened here Monday, September 14, for the September term, all members and officers of the court being present.

Ordered that the county accept offer of Mrs. J. V. Reicherzer to lease her building in LaCoste for a court-house at a rental of $25.00 per annum, beginning September 1, 1936, and to continue until ordered cancelled by the court. Payments to be made in advance quarterly, the first payment of $6.25 to be made at this time. Said building to be used as a courthouse, for elections, for collecting taxes and other lawful purposes.

Ordered that the County lease the Adams Bank Building, up-stairs being the front end over the relief office, at rental of $5.00 per month, as a sewing room for WPA workers. The County Treasurer is directed to issue check for said amount at the end of each month beginning at such time as the building is needed for such purposes. Payments to be made to W. S. Lilly.

A delegation of ladies, representing all sections of the County, appeared before the Court and requested that the County employ a demonstration agent to be paid for $800.00 by the county and $1200.00 by Federal and State Governments, per annum. After a hearing, it was ordered that said agent be employed for a period of four months, at which time the incoming court shall decide whether to continue or discontinue the work.

Certain bills and monthly reports were examined and approved.

Ordered that $189 be appropriated out of the general fund for the purpose of purchasing desks necessary in the Treasurer's office.

Ordered that application by Harrison Harris to lane road, now gated, along his east line, is granted, same to be made an open road.

HONDO BOYS IN HEADLINES.

Kerrville, Texas, September 13, 1936.—Coaches H. C. "Billy" Gilstrap and W. M. Wilcox put their Schreiner Institute Mountaineers through the first scrimmage of the current season yesterday afternoon.

Approximately fifty boys have been in attendance at the training camp, according to Coach Gilstrap, and so far there have been no injuries or other mishaps. The Kerrville boys are now preparing for their first game, with the North Texas Aggies of Arlington, the game to be played in Kerrville.

While only a junior college, the Aggie school, coached by "Klepto" Holmes, will more than likely be one of the hardest foes for the Mountaineers to overcome during the season. Both teams have enviable records and will be out to defend them in this game. The N. T. A. C. is a branch of A. & M. and is famous for its scrapping teams.

Gilstrap's boys, however, should be able to deal all foes plenty of trouble with such veterans as W. C. Barnett and southpaw Carroll Jones in the backfield, and Captain Hoyt Graves, LaRue Haralson, Billy Gillis and a host of others in the line, back to try and help the Mountaineers repeat their State Championship of last season.

Coach Gilstrap is especially depending on Carroll Jones and Ted Dawson, lettermen. Jones, formerly a resident of Hondo, is now living in Crystal City. Other Hondo men out at practices are Benny Oeffinger and Kyle Muennink.

DORCAS CLASS ENTERTAINED.

at one o'clock last Wednesday the Dorcas Class of the Baptist Church was entertained with a luncheon at the home of Mrs. E. G. Pope, with Mrs. Pope and Mrs. A. L. Jansen as hostesses. The menu consisted of turkey, dressing, gravy, potato salad, peas and carrots, hot rolls, pickled peaches, peach cobbler a la mode, and iced tea.

After a brief business session the members of the class were further entertained with several guessing games and contests.

The guests were Mesdames Nuel Woods, Fabian Garrison, Will Crow, Horace Crow, Ben Bradley, Jim Duncan, Marvin Beal, Henry Windrow, Emmett Kollman, T. B. Knopp, Jack Fusselman, Jr., F. L. McWilliams, Roland Gaines, Toby Taylor, Clinton Taylor, W. J. Clements of Sabinal, Robert Kollman, Miss Donna Watson of Sabinal, and the hostesses, Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Jansen.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY MEETS.

Mrs. Annie Stiegler was hostess to the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Thursday afternoon of last week, when an important business session was held. It was decided to give a big dinner on General Election day in November. The time and place will be announced later. The hostess then served refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and iced tea to the following: Mesdames Alfred Mecher, Charlotte Miller, Alice Reinhart, Felix Batot, Gertrude Saathoff, H. E. Haass, Aug. Schroeder, Caroline Bendele, Ella Balzen, Amanda Muennink, Wm. Mussman, Ben Oeffinger, Felix Hollmig, and Misses Lina Saathoff, Alice Muennink and Nettie Stiegler.

NEUMANN-RIFF.

On Tuesday morning, September 15, 1936, at nine o'clock, Miss Jewel Pearl Riff became the bride of Mr. Vivian H. Neumann in a simple ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Riff. Rev. Shan M. Hull of the Hondo Methodist church read the marriage lines. Attendants were Miss Evelyn Mann, cousin of the groom, and Mr. Nick Riff, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a smart two-piece grey tailored suit of light weight wool trimmed with caracul fur. Her hat and accessories were also of grey, and her corsage was of purple violets. Miss Mann was attractively dressed in pottery rust crepe with hat and accessories of brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Neumann left on a week's bridal trip to Corpus Christi and other points unknown. On their return they will make their home on Mr. Neumann's farm southeast of Hondo. Both Mr. and Mrs. Neumann are popular young people of Hondo and Medina County. Mrs. Neumann is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Riff and a graduate of Hondo High School in 1934. Mr. Neumann is the only son of Mr. Thomas J. Neumann and a graduate of Hondo High School in 1933. The following year he attend Texas University for one term.

The many friends of the young couple extend congratulations and best wishes.

SITTRE-NESTER.

Miss Hermina Nester, third eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nester of Hondo, became the bride of Mr. Riley Sittre, son of Mr. Ed. Sittre of Riomedina, in a quiet ceremony performed in San Antonio, at 5 P. M., Tuesday, September 15, 1936. Attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Hettie Nester, her cousin, Mr. Francis Carl of D'Hanis, and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Haby of Riomedina.

The bride wore a becoming suit of grey wool, the tailored dress having the collar and pockets of grey astrakhan, and a three-quarter length cape with squared shoulders completing the ensemble. Her accessories were also of grey, the only touches of color being gloves of Dubonnet and her bridal corsage.

After a brief wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Sittre will reside in their newly erected ranch home near Riomedina.

The bride graduated from Hondo High School in 1929, and attended the Lutheran College at Seguin and also The University of Texas. For the past several years she has been teaching the Upper Quilhi school. The groom is a successful rancher of the Riomedina section. Both Mr. and Mrs. Sittre are of well-known Medina County families and have many friends who wish them good fortune in their married life.

APPLE DANCER AT COLONIAL.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

We have called next Sunday rally day. It should not be necessary to remind the members of the congregation where their place is on the Lord's Day. But making allowances for the weakness of sinful nature such reminders become advisable from time to time. And there is always room for improvement among us all.

It would seem the more natural for us to rally to the cause of the Kingdom of God, this time in view of the fact that He has favored our territory in such a rich manner. If you could have seen what our vacation trip brought to our eyes—the devastation of field and pasture by drouth and grasshopper—you would agree that we have very much indeed to be grateful to our Lord for. And you will want to show this gratitude by following His call, doing His will, and being in your place next Sunday. Let us then "now thank . . . Our God, with heart and hand and voices, Who wondrous things hath done, in Whom this world rejoices."

English services next Sunday morning at 10:30 A. M. Sunday school and Bible class at 9:00 A. M. Service at Sprotville beginning at 2:30 P. M.

College Day will be observed in all the churches of our district on Sunday, September 27. Both the morning and night services will be devoted to the work of higher Christian Education, which our Lutheran Church has always maintained. More information will reach you before that time.

On next Sunday night, Sept. 20, there will be a Pre-convention Rally Service held at Brackenridge Park, beginning at 7:30 P. M. This will be held in the outdoor auditorium. A children's chorus and a mass choir will render special music. You are urged to attend this service in the interest of our American Lutheran Church convention which will be held at San Antonio from October 9 to 15.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL WINS HONORS.

The San Antonio Association of which the Hondo Baptist Sunday School is a member, held a Sunday School Revival during the week of September 6th through September 13th. This revival consisted of a religious census, two study courses, visitation and four general meetings in San Antonio.

Bro. and Mrs. W. J. Clements of the Baptist Church of Sabinal, and Miss Donna Watson, also of Sabinal, conducted this revival in Hondo. On Sunday, the 6th, Mrs. Clements directed the taking of a religious census. Throughout the week Bro. and Mrs. Clements each taught a study course. All except one completed and took examinations on these courses. Friday and Saturday we observed visitation day.

With the help of Miss Donna Watson a complete and good report was turned in to the Association, Sunday the 13th, at the graduation exercises which were held at Baptist Temple Church in San Antonio. By the co-operation of all those who helped in and attended this revival, Hondo turned in the best report in the San Antonio Association. The Hondo Sunday School, therefore was awarded a set of 12 beautifully bound books for its library.

Our new pastor, Bro. J. W. Askew, and his family have moved to Hondo and will take charge of our services Sunday.

Let's give our new pastor a hearty welcome, by attending the services Sunday.

QUIHI NOTES.

And Abraham called the name of that place Jehovah jireh: as it is said to this day. In the mount of the Lord it shall be seen. Gen. 22: 14.

"What's in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." Quite so, where the name does not express substance, meaning, importance and purpose. My former darkey janitor paraded under the proud appellation: Washington Columbus Lincoln Moses Humphries. A little bit of misnomer. Rather. As much as calling the Verde Creek the Rio Grande. Names differ, indeed; some are rattling shingles, painted nothing, others carry a bright and lasting importance. To-wit: They perpetuate the founder (Castroville, D'Hanis), a historical leader (Washington, Austin), geographic locations (Hondo, deep, formerly prevailing trees (Alamo, poplar), or birds and their cry (Quilhi) or industries (Cuero, leather), or military commanders (Ft. Worth), or symbolic allusions (Refugio, refuge; Bethlehem, house of bread, sustenance), or so-called patron saints (San Antonio), or home-land memories (Scotland, Edinburg), or first impressions (Plain View, Panhandle), or historical reflections (Waterloo), etc. Now and then a religious thought appears (Corpus Christi, body of Christ) but the vast percentage of names deals with mundane matters, with man and concerns here below. Palestine has numerous places with the name of Jehovah, the Lord, attached to it, and dedicated to His memory. Abraham made the start. Never will he forget that gruesome experience, those sleepless days and hours when he did not even dare to discuss the impending fate with anyone, when he had to stand alone on his own faith, fidelity and obedience, as we all stand in the hour of temptation and death, when his God had become a mysterious God and His ways past finding out. He has recovered his balance. The grief is past and the glory shines afar. Jehovah jireh, the Lord will see it through. Also for you. A good name to remember.

Both Mrs. John Balzen and Mrs. Anna Neumann are in a precarious condition. What the Lord has in store for them, we do not know, but we have the privilege to call on His name in their behalf. Let's do it.

We are glad to see Mrs. Hy. Bohlman back after a protracted stay in Arizona.

Fire fighting was in order during the last week-end near Dunlay and several of our volunteers helped along to get the blaze under control. And now the Lord has eliminated that danger for awhile with copious rains, giving the corn pullers a rest and improving the pastures nicely. Thankful, are we?

Some homes are rather empty at present and mothers feel lonely without their little helpmates. The schools are in full go, toppling over many a mansion and uprooting many a fairyland that youthful imagination had built, giving the beginners their first taste of life's realities and building another story for the others on the foundation and rising walls deserted in May. Give your co-operation and daily prayer for the work in hand. True blessings come from above.

God willing, our mission festival will be celebrated on the first Sunday in October with two services. Rev. W. C. Leibfarth has kindly consented to take over the English evening service. Cancel your other arrangements that you can attend. The Lord has blessed you. And He certainly has blessed you that you need not appear with empty hands. Do not disappoint Him.

Things are taking shape for our Community Social on October the 29th. The call meeting has cleared the way, the Luther Leaguers, after a splendid Sunday program, will furnish the general committee; the rehearsals for the play are snapping into line and the ladies of the Aid have pledged their unstinted support as well as the whole congregation. Thanks.

Announcements for September the 20th: German service at 10; Sunday school in full at 9; English service at 8 P. M. "Jesus calls us o'er the tumult of our life's wild, restless sea."

A SENSE OF RUMOR.

By Clayton Rand.

We are told that there is such a thing as an organized business of gossip-mongers, who spread false rumors over the country for a given fee—they find political years their best pickings.

The forthcoming campaign gives promise of being a bit dull and profitless with neither Will Rogers nor Huey Long alive to burlesque and de-bunk it.

The worse thing the depression did was to destroy America's good old salty sense of humor.

Not in our time have we taken en politics quite so seriously—it hasn't even dawned on us yet that there are very few patriots or statesmen of any political stripe running for political office.

STATE DEMOCRATIC GUIDE BOOK.

Wandering into many fields the convention of Democrats at Fort Worth made a guide book for the legislature which if followed, or even attempted to be followed, would keep that body in continuous session for all next year, editorializes the San Angelo Morning Times. Disregarding the plain letter of the election law, a statute that expressly forbids conventions making demands for specific legislation unless it shall first have been submitted to the voters in a primary, the delegates, or a group of them, demanded enactment of statutes that would swell the size of the law books and double the taxes paid by the people and the business enterprises of Texas.

Fortunately the legislature will not be bound by these demands, nor should they be. The members of the legislature as a whole are as well qualified to know the needs and the resources of Texas as delegates led by a handful of platform makers. Admit that the document was not written at Austin days before the convention (which it was). Admit that it was the work of thirty-five members of the resolutions committee (which it was not), and we have the spectacle of those thirty-five people instructing the one hundred and eighty-one members of the Texas legislature what legislation to enact.

The instruction for the legislature to adopt the child labor amendment to the federal constitution is a case in point. Notwithstanding this amendment has been before the states twelve years and has four times been rejected by Texas legislatures, the interests behind it continue to insist on its enactment. Why do they not do as the law provides, and place it on the primary ballot? Then if a majority of the voters demanded it the legislature would be under obligation to approve the amendment.

A platform made after candidates have been nominated and cut to fit the views of those candidates, is no platform at all.

WHEN POLITICIANS SPEND "YOUR" MONEY.

In a recent editorial, the Electrical World points out that "a strange and uncertain situation exists in the Federal power projects. There is no common policy and all is at sea. Out at Boulder Dam power is sold as falling water to private and municipal utilities under no restriction. Down in the TVA the policy is straight-out destructive competition with existing utilities despite their offer to buy the power and distribute it. Out at the Lep project they are trying to peddle power—all dump—to utilities at about 4.5 mills. At Bonneville and Grand Coulee no one knows what policy is to be followed. All is inconsistency and uncertainty."

Anyone with a knowledge of past ventures of politics-to-business will not be surprised by this. Every officeholder has his own ideas as to what will please his constituents and win him votes—and often those ideas are diametrically opposed to those of his neighboring officeholder. The result is that in big ventures, such as the Federal hydro projects, a hundred men want a hundred different things done—and it becomes next to impossible to establish a reasonable and consistent policy.

To quote the Electrical World again, "We have the spectacle of nearly a billion dollars of taxpayers' money being spent without any basis in economics and without any thought-out policy on power supply. And yet some people say private enterprise is inefficient!" No private industry could escape bankruptcy under such conditions.

Hitler Demands Return of German Colonies—American Fleet to Maneuver in North Pacific—Discord in World Power Conference.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© Western Newspaper Union.

HUNDREDS of thousands of Nazis, attending the party convention in Nuremberg, were roused to great enthusiasm by a proclamation from Reichsfuehrer Hitler to the effect that Germany, having re-armed and scrapped most of the Versailles treaty, was ready to press its demand for restoration of its pre-war colonies. This, he asserted, was necessary to the economic independence of Germany and would be achieved within the next four years. Said the chancellor:

"It is regrettable that the rest of the world fails to understand the nature and greatness of our task. If a certain British politician declares Germany needs no colonies as she may buy her raw materials, then this remark is about as bright as that of the Bourbon princess who, when she saw a mob crying for bread, wondered why—if the people had no bread—they did not eat cake. "If Germany had not, for fifteen years, been squeezed dry and cheated of her entire international savings; if she had not lost her entire foreign holdings; if, above all, she still possessed her colonies, we could much more easily master the difficulties."

Then, addressing the convention directly, the fuehrer launched a new campaign against bolshevism and the Jews.

"Bolshevism seeks to exterminate governments based on a community of race and blood and replace them by non-Aryan Jewish element of no race," Hitler warned. "Sooner or later sovietistic authority states will end in anarchy, since Jewish elements possess only despotic faculties, never organizing reconstructive ones."

"The rock of foundation of the state is an authoritarian will. Unlimited individual liberty leads to anarchy. All states have experienced the destructive effects of democracy."

FOLLOWING closely upon the visit to France of Gen. Rydz-Smigly of Poland, France and Poland signed a military treaty of friendship. It was reported, too, that France had agreed to lend 600,000,000 francs for completion of Poland's new railroad linking the Silesian coal fields with the port of Gdynia, rival of the Free City of Danzig.

Josef Beck, Polish foreign minister, told Berlin the Franco-Polish accord would have no effect on friendly relations with Germany; but nevertheless there was considerable anxiety in Warsaw concerning Germany's reaction.

BACK at his desk after an illness of six months, Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson immediately made an announcement that will be of deep interest to Japan. The annual fleet maneuvers, which last May were shifted to the Canal Zone as a conciliatory gesture to Japan, will be held next year in North Pacific and Hawaiian waters, and probably the Tokio press will yelp again. With the announcement Sec. Swanson asserted Japanese plans to retain overage submarines and destroyers involve a "violation" of the London and Washington naval treaties, which are to expire December 31 by Japanese abrogation. He followed up his charge with the statement that the United States has completed plans for two new battle-ships and is prepared to begin construction "at a moment's notice."

The fleet maneuvers, officially designated as "fleet problem No. 18," will be held during late May and early June. The area of operations, it was indicated, will be the triangle between the Aleutian Islands, Hawaii, and Seattle, where the fleet problem of 1935 was conducted. Vessels and planes probably will work as far west as the Wake Islands.

Armament of the new battleships is at present limited to 14 inch guns, but Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, said frankly that if Japan does not agree to this limitation by next April, "the sky is the limit."

AMERICAN dairymen are protesting vainly to Secretary of State Hull against the reciprocal trade treaty with Brazil which, they assert, is seriously injuring the industry by encouragement of the manufacture of imitative butter. Under the treaty, Brazilian babassu oil, unknown in United States markets prior to 1935, now is being used at the rate of more than a million pounds a month for manufacture of a butter substitute.

Mr. Hull referred the protests to Assistant Secretary Sayre, who pointed out that the provision for free importation of the nut and oil was authorized by congress in the trade agreement act of 1934. He added that the success of the program was of vital interest to the American dairy farmer, "who has more to gain from the re-establishment of prosperous domestic markets for his products through the restoration of an abundant foreign trade than by a policy of excluding even the most remotely competitive products."

THERE was glee in government circles when it was announced that the United States treasury offering of $914,000,000 in 20 to 23-year two and three fourths per cent bonds dated September 15 was oversubscribed nine times. Of course those who are informed know that the reason is the banks, insurance companies and other investment institutions are glutted with money for which they have been seeking profitable employment.

Of the treasury's latest offering $400,000,000 of bonds is to raise new cash and $514,000,000 is to provide for the exchange of 1.5 per cent notes maturing September 15.

HUNDREDS of delegates, from many nations, were present when the third World Power conference opened in Washington, with President Julius Dornmueller in the chair. Prospects were good for a useful discussion of the problems connected with the industry, but discord crept in early in the proceedings. At a round table debate on public regulation and ownership of utilities, M. P. Davidson, representing Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, said the only way to reduce electric rates is by threatening public ownership. Three prominent private utility men promptly "took a walk," and John C. Dalton, manager of the County of London Electric Supply, criticized Davidson's talk as a "tirade."

The discussion started in connection with a paper by John E. Zimmerman, president of the United Gas Improvement company, who held that power "yardsticks" such as the TVA and Boulder Dam cannot be compared with private utilities unless operating conditions are similar. Such yardsticks, he said, will lead to competitive methods already proved "wasteful and unsatisfactory."

In papers taking the opposite view, Prof. William E. Mosher of Syracuse university, and James C. Bonbright of the New York State Power Authority, held that public competition with private companies is "indisputable evidence" of declining faith in regulation.

ACCORDING to the New York Times, whose dispatches from Washington are usually most reliable, President Roosevelt is considering for submission to congress, in event of his re-election, a far-reaching plan of governmental reorganization. The plan possibly would involve the consolidation or abolition of some of the major departments and bureaus.

"Whatever the President finally proposes," the Times said, "one may hear in informed quarters now that the regular cabinet posts might be decreased . . ."

A possibility, the Times stated, would be consolidation of the army, navy and air corps in a department of national defense.

"The administration proposes to follow a definite policy of curtailing or dismantling emergency units that have outrun their usefulness," the paper continued.

FRANCE'S government has decided that conditions in Europe are so threatening that it must spend a huge sum for national defense. So it adopted a program for increasing the efficiency of the army which will cost $930,000,000 in the next four years. The proposal was made by Edouard Daladier, minister of defense. The first installment of $280,000,000 will be disbursed in 1937.

The program calls for an intensive increase of mechanized units and also for rearmament. Furthermore, it provides an increase in the size of the professional army and the creation of a specialized group of long service noncommissioned officers such as already exist in the French navy.

The program also provides for strengthening the frontier fortifications. But the chief improvement will be made in the air force which will be increased by 2,000 planes.

FIERCE attacks by the Spanish rebels resulted in the capture of Irun, on the French border, and the defenders were mercilessly slaughtered save for those who were able to take refuge in France. The town was reduced to smoking ruins, and the victors promptly started an advance westward against San Sebastian, their main objective in the north. Recognizing the fact that this large resort city could not long be defended, the government administration there offered to surrender the place if full amnesty were promised; but declared if this were refused the city would be burned to the ground and the 625 fascist prisoners held there would be shot. There was great discord among the defenders, the anarchists insisting on destroying the city anyhow.

Then the Basque nationals took a hand, assuming control of the city and sending a lot of the anarchists to Bilbao. This move resulted in a virtual armistice while negotiations for surrender of the city went forward.

Later it was reported that the rebel forces had rejected the terms of surrender, and shelling of the city began. The civilian inhabitants were fleeing in panic.

South of Madrid the government forces were said to have made progress and there were claims that Talavera had been taken and that the Alcazar in Toledo was practically battered to pieces by loyalist artillery. The rebels' advance on Madrid from the south and west was supposed to have been halted.

The Madrid government was reorganized and Francisco Largo Caballero, left wing Socialist, was made premier.

French workers in Paris in a great demonstration insisted that the government abandon its non-intervention policy and give active aid to the Spanish government. Premier Blum, while not concealing his sympathy with the Madrid crowd, declared that if France dropped neutrality, Italy and Germany would be able to give the Spanish rebels much speedier and more effective aid than the French could give to the loyalists.

Representatives of twenty-four powers were scheduled to confer in London on plans for the establishment of a nonintervention control committee. Portugal, however, was still holding out.

CREWS of two Portuguese warships mutinied and decided to take the vessels to the aid of the Spanish government forces at Malaga or Valencia. As the ships started to leave their buoys the shore batteries opened fire. Twelve of the mutineers were killed and twenty wounded, and the others speedily gave in. The Lisbon government said the men were under the influence of communist propaganda.

SENATOR GEORGE W. NORRIS of Nebraska, Republican, who said he wished to retire from public life, is a candidate for re-election in spite of himself. A petition placing him on the ticket was filed by more than forty thousand of his friends, and only one thousand signatures were necessary. Mr. Norris is seventy-five years old. Chairman Farley of the Democratic party said the filing of the Norris petition made him "very happy."

Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, severe critic of the New Deal, was defeated for nomination as United States senator by the present incumbent, Richard B. Russell. In Washington state Gov. Clarence D. Martin was renominated by the Democrats and former Gov. R. H. Hartley was named by the Republicans. Gov. Ed C. Johnson of Colorado captured the Democratic nomination for senator and will be opposed by R. L. Sauter, Republican. Arizona Democrats refused renomination to Gov. B. B. Moer, selecting instead R. C. Stanford of Phoenix. In Connecticut the Republicans nominated Arthur M. Brown for governor.

HEROIC actions and dramatic rescues marked the collision of the excursion steamer Romance and the steamship New York in a dense fog ten miles off Boston, Mass. The Romance sank in twenty minutes, but every passenger and member of the crew was taken safely aboard the New York. The rescued numbered 288, most of the passengers being women and children from Greater Boston. The New York then turned back into Boston harbor with a twelve foot hole in her bow. There was no panic aboard the Romance, and the officers and crews of both vessels displayed discipline and bravery that elicited high praise.

JULIANA, crown princess of the Netherlands, has found her future husband in a German prince, Bernhard zur Lippe-Biesterfeld. The announcement of their betrothal was hailed in the Hague with utmost joy. Juliana, who is twenty-seven, is beloved for her jollity and good humor, and also she has been carefully trained for the throne. Prince Bernhard, twenty-five years old, has been working for the German dye trust.

MRS. BERYL MARKHAM of England put her name on the roll of fame as the first woman to make a solo flight across the north Atlantic from east to west. She started from London for New York, but her fuel gave out and she was forced to land her small moroplane at Baleine cove near Louisberg, Nova Scotia.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted By WILLIAM BRUCKART NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington.—The Department of Commerce has lately released its annual "World Economic Review," and again has painted officially a picture of general conditions that I believe to be the most accurate obtainable under present chaotic conditions. I might add that it is one of the few official analyses coming out from the government these days that is not colored in any manner or form.

The reason this review is so interesting is because it points out what can be expected to happen by a disclosure in detail of what has happened in commerce and industry. To that extent it delivers a rather definite body blow at some New Deal policies affecting business. Since it does this sort of thing, the review is entitled to more faith and credit than usually is accorded government publications, whether compiled by the Roosevelt administration or those before it. Political leaders always want to put their best foot forward and the New Deal under Mr. Roosevelt has not failed to carry on this tradition to the fullest possible extent.

The section of the "World Economic Review" that was most interesting to me contained this statement: "Deficits of great magnitude created yearly during the depression to meet payments of wages, salaries, interest and dividends sapped the vitality of the entire business structure and could not have been sustained indefinitely."

Here then is an official declaration from that agency of the government most concerned with commerce and industry which says that corporations and employers of labor maintained as far as they were able the payrolls and interest payments during the depression. It says likewise that had corporations failed to do this, our unemployment problem would have been much greater, the income of those who hold securities, whether in large or small amount, would not have received dividends on their stocks or interest on the bonds and, as a result, it is obvious the buying power of the country as a whole would have been sharply reduced. That is to say, had these payments both to labor and capital, been curtailed there would have been even a lower level of retail business than obtained during the depression. It ought to be added as well that had a lower level of business resulted, the manufacturing industries from which the retail stores buy their supplies would have closed down their plants in even greater number than they did.

As we look back over the last five or six years it is easy to see how things could have been very much worse. It is easy to recognize that the strength that comes from amassing capital in corporation form has developed in this country one of the greatest shock absorbers that any people may have when those corporations, those businesses, are permitted to develop under sound management and with as little governmental interference as the general public welfare will permit.

Now, as to the reason why these businesses were able to accomplish the things they did: The answer is simple. Managements of businesses must follow the same practices in guiding the financial affairs of those businesses as you or I do in the management of our personal affairs. This brings us to a point of current interest. In preparing for the rainy day, all business, whether great or small, lays aside a certain percentage of its profits. This is called a surplus. The surplus is invested. It is made to yield a return in the form of interest or dividends. It is seldom touched. It is treated just as you and I would treat our savings accounts—just as we deal with our Christmas savings account.

Thus, the arrival of slack times, dull business, no profits, the arrival of the time when we must live on our own fat so to speak, does not find us without a reserve because that is what a surplus is. The records of the savings banks and of the life insurance companies through the last six years show definitely how many hundreds of thousands of people had to draw on that surplus just as the Department of Commerce statement now reveals how many corporations drew upon their surpluses in order to maintain their organizations, pay the workers and be honest by paying the interest on their debts. All of this sounds like a chautauqua lecture on savings. But however it may sound, it links in directly to legislation that was enacted in the last session of Congress, a law driven through under the lash of President Roosevelt after it was conceived by a bunch of radicals who constitute the majority of the so-called brain trust at Washington.

That law levies a new tax on corporations. It does not touch us as individuals except indirectly. The tax applies to surplus, to the savings of business, a savings designed to meet just such conditions as those through which we have gone and which business was able to meet because heretofore it had been permitted to pile up reserves to carry it through the rainy day.

Official figures from the Department of Commerce show that the payments for wages, salaries, interest and dividends from 1930 to 1934 amounted to $21,288,000,000. In 1935, according to incomplete figures, business paid out $1,500,000,000 for these same purposes, thus making the total for five years approximately $23,000,000,000.

Now, in normal times these figures would not prove exciting. Under present circumstances and those through which we have been passing, they border on the sensational. This is true because these payments have been made, not from the earnings of the businesses during the years in which they were paid, but from earnings of earlier good years when a part of the profits were laid aside as a protection.

It would seem therefore that since business has performed a social service of this kind under its own management that it ought to be allowed to continue. I am convinced that it is a much safer method than to have the federal government mess around through laws such as the tax on surpluses for it must be remembered that under the law which I have criticized, no corporation can build up again such surplus as has happened in the past.

I might mention further that the effect of this law is going to be to prevent small corporations from ever growing large. I mean by that, if a corporation, through careful management and frugal savings, was able to expand its plant facilities, increase its production and thereby increase the number of workers it employs, it will be unable to do so. It will be unable to accomplish this for the reason that the operation of this tax law prevents it from storing its savings. The law takes such a heavy toll of any stored-up earnings that no corporation can afford to store them up. They must be passed out in dividends during the year they are earned or else the government puts its tax hand into the business treasury.

One might say that such a distribution is helpful and undoubtedly in the cases of some owners of securities it is helpful. But questions of this kind must be treated in the whole and not on the basis of isolated cases. Consequently, it takes no stretch of the imagination to see how a business is forced to distribute its earnings, to distribute them in good times when a comparatively small number of its security owners need the funds—and the result is obviously a shortage of reserve for that rainy day. In other words, a corporation is compelled to be a spendthrift or else pay a tax that is designed as a punishment.

There is another phase of these payments by businesses that deserves attention. The dividend payments, in fact, many of the earnings reports of business lately have shown a decided up-turn. This circumstance has prompted Democratic Chairman Farley and Attorney General Cummings to enthrone somewhat about business recovery. Each of them insist in recent political statements that prosperity actually is here; that it is not "just around the corner," as Mr. Hoover once predicted while he was president.

But there should be some attention paid to the meaning of the dividend payments and increased earnings. They should be analyzed. It is true that some industries, like the automobile industry, for example, have increased production beyond the hope of any students of economics and that they have restored to their payrolls a considerable percentage of the workers they once employed. Some other industries likewise have moved forward and promise to get on their feet again in sound fashion. Yet I find a number of authorities in the business world who continue to be doubtful. They fear that the foundation is not sound.

These facts have not deterred Mr. Farley and Mr. Cummings from shouting from the house-tops that this is prosperity, resulting from Roosevelt policies. Their declarations, however, are just as fallacious, just as political as some political pronouncements that I have heard from the Republican side to the effect that business is picking up because of prospects of electing Governor Landon as President. All of these statements in my opinion are pure hokum for the reason that the facts generally speaking do not bear out any of them.

World's Chemists Busy The New Hell-Broth Our Huge Gold Pile

The great fighters in Asia and Europe in the days of Frederick the Great and Napoleon had little idea of war's future. But marvelous things, some of the greatest, Napoleon especially, might have done with today's inventions.

Frederick the Great's father selected the tallest men he could find for his guard, probably kept them away from the firing line. In battle they would have been killed first, hit by the bullets that go over the heads of shorter men.

The wholesale killers of the old days prepared their killings by marching men up and down, drilling them, encouraging them with titles, brass bands to lead them, fancy uniforms. All that means little now.

About 100 miles from Berlin there is a station called Leuna. There most useful work is done, in theory and through study of the manufacture of synthetic petroleum; and there most important, learned men with big heads, spectacles and an amount of education that would make you dizzy if you could imagine it, concentrate their brains on the preparation of better, more efficient poison gases and high explosives.

Every country has its similar death laboratory; men perhaps as efficient as those of Germany, though Germany is the kingdom of chemistry, the teacher of other nations.

Henry Irving, on the stage of his theater in London, prepared an impressive presentation of the witches in "Macbeth," old, toothless hags, preparing their hell-broth, with power to summon spirits from the dead and make them foretell the future.

Far more efficient are those solemn German chemists, physicists and other professors, preparing the real hell-broth of poison gas, upon which the future of civilization and the domination of the earth may depend for many centuries.

We had our periods of universal barbarism and cannibalism, our ages of flint, bronze and iron, our many interesting forms of rulership, planned to give one or a few control over all the others. We had the age of military feudalism, and many think that we are now seeing the end of "industrial feudalism." There may be in the centuries ahead of us a period of airplane-poison gas rule, which will make the peoples of the world as completely subject to a single dictatorship as were the ancient galley-slaves, swinging their oars under the lash.

There are a good many things we haven't seen and many to which we devote too little thought, including perhaps the fact that it is dangerous to be too rich if you are not prepared to defend yourself against burglars.

Those thousands of millions in gold that we are hiding away in a hole in the ground, as ingeniously as any squirrel hiding his hickory nuts, may bring us trouble some day.

The thought of those ten thousand millions' worth of gold bars and dollars, hidden not very far below the surface, might cause some ingenious Asiatic or European to say to himself:

"For one or two billions I could prepare the necessary machinery, flying ships and poison gas included, to conquer the necessary areas of the United States and frighten the others into submission. Having laid down my layer of gas, I would descend and take the ten thousand millions and go home with a clean profit of eight billions in gold."

Mussolini races his big Italian built automobile, the engine burning alcohol, made of Italian farm products—no gasoline. Some lawmakers in America suggest compelling the use of 10 per cent alcohol in all fuel for American automobiles. Fuel alcohol can be made from corn, and the law, it is said, would give work to 2,000,000 men on 30,000,000 acres of farm land.

It seems impossible to believe the hideous accounts of the maltreatment and cruel deaths inflicted upon women in the civil war now raging in Spain.

That men should fight and murder each other is to be expected, since they are at best "half tiger, half monkey," and often the monkey gives way to the tiger. But key gives way to the tiger, that they should inflict shameful and defenseless women seems utterly unbelievable, even when you know what men are, in a mob.

"Was the third caller you or Morano? And then I remembered two things. Morano took the 2:12 to Philadelphia to check on those fingerprints. He wouldn't've done that if he'd known Kelly was dead. The house was dark and silent when Morano got to Sixteenth street. He thought Kelly'd gone to bed, and so he went to Philadelphia. I was sure of that. And I was sure that the man who killed Kelly wore gloves."

"On a hot night. Not because he'd thought of fingerprints, but because he was accustomed to wearing gloves, even in summer. It was red-hot the day I came here to tell you about Nolan. And your gloves were lying there with your hat."

Peter smiled, faintly. "I remember, too," he said. "You picked one of them up. But, of course, I might merely have been carrying them."

Barry smiled, also. "You might," he admitted. "But the glove that fell on the floor was turned inside out. People don't carry gloves that way."

"Well," Winslow observed, "Harwood didn't make any mistake when he said you were a good newspaper man. You're right about everything. My wife was Mrs. Selby. She thought Selby was dead, of course, when she married me. Two or three years ago, I met him on the street. He was d-d decent. 'Believe it or not, I was terribly in love with Julie,' he said. 'I still am. But God knows I'm no husband for her, and you are. You've nothing to fear from me,' he said."

"But I did fear. All my life, I've had one conviction. Murder will out. Everything comes to the surface sooner or later. I urged Julie to get a divorce. 'I can't,' she said, 'without more dreadful publicity. It would ruin your career,' she said. Always thinking of me, Julie is."

He touched the tell-tale magnet, almost lovingly.

"We were still talking about it," he continued, "when Julie went all to pieces again. Just as she had when the tabloids printed the story you saw. I took her to Europe. When we came back, Selby'd disappeared. I didn't even know his new name, and, of course, I didn't look for him. I persuaded myself the danger was over."

"Then came the Jefferson street grab. 'I was upset about what the newspapers said of Judge Hambridge. I'd no idea of what was back of that, of course, and he didn't tell me. I figured that they'd got to him, somehow. And then Morano telephoned, the night of the murder, to say Kelly'd been to the Coconut Bar. He'd had the marriage certificate some time, and, through an underworld connection, he knew Selby was alive, but he'd only just found out that Selby was Morano. Someone had told him that afternoon—probably the same man who tipped off Luis' telephone message to Harwood. Kelly had said to Morano, 'Now I've got you, and Hambridge, and Winslow.' 'He has, too,' Luis added, 'unless you can find a way out of it.'"

Winslow's hand closed tightly. "Julie was upstairs, asleep," he said. "She'd left me an hour before, radiantly happy. I went to see Kelly. Heaven knows what I intended to do. Certainly not murder. I was about to ring the bell, when I saw the key in the door, and used it. Kelly was talking to Hambridge. I recognized the Judge's voice, and slipped into the dining room. Listening, I learned why he had written that decision. And I heard Kelly say, 'If it ain't filed by noon today, I'll have your sister-in-law arrested for bigamy.'"

"Hambridge said, 'You can do what you like; I won't file it.'"

"The cut-glass decanter was on the table in front of me. I picked it up, almost mechanically. Kelly was in the hall then, shouting 'squealers' and 'beat it.' I suppose I had some vague idea of helping my brother-in-law. I don't know. Anyway, I opened the door between the dining room and the drawing room. And, as I did so, Kelly came in from the hall, closing that door behind him. His left hand was still on the knob when he saw me."

"More squealers!" he shouted. "Witnesses! So you heard, did you? Well, by God, you're not going to tell anybody!"

"He lifted his right hand, and there was a revolver in it."

"Another instant, and he'd've fired. I hurled the decanter."

"It was just instinct. I didn't take aim. There wasn't time. If I meant to do anything, it was to hit his pistol arm. I don't really know where the bottle did strike. The side of Kelly's head, probably, for it landed against a metal door-hinge, rebounded, fell into a chair, and rolled off to the floor. A moment afterward, Kelly went down in a heap."

"He wasn't dead. A long way from it, for the gun had dropped out of his hand, and he reached for it. I picked it up. Ten seconds later, Hambridge was on the other side of that door, trying to open it, and calling Kelly. I turned the lights out. Hambridge left. I put the revolver into my pocket, and got the certificate out of Kelly's. There was a white push-button in the frame. I pressed it—or thought I did."

"It never occurred to me that Kelly was anything more than stunned. I went home, and burned that marriage certificate. There was no other record; I'd made sure of that. A few hours later, Hambridge phoned to say he'd filed his decision. There was nothing about Kelly in the morning paper. I'd no idea he was dead until long after dinner that night at Southampton."

Barry nodded. "Of course, my first impulse was to give myself up," Winslow said. "But what good would that've done? They couldn't convict me. I'd killed in self-defense, and could come mighty near proving it. But, in doing so, I'd've given away the secret I'd struggled to keep all these years. I'd've smashed Julie utterly, and ruined Hambridge, and Pat. Nobody was harmed by my keeping my mouth shut. There wasn't a chance of their finding Ridder guilty, or anyone else. If they'd done that, I'd've confessed in a moment."

"I know," Barry declared. "That's what you meant when you said, 'If we have to get the guilty man to free Rogers, we'll do it, but let's give the court a chance first.'"

"Yes." Peter rose, and went to the window. "The difficult thing," he continued, "was not to confess. With that boy in jail. But it was letting an innocent man suffer a few weeks, or an innocent woman all her life. If you'd seen Julie's face, when she collapsed, after hearing of Selby's arrest—" He paused. "Of course, neither she nor Hambridge knows I killed Kelly."

Barry said, "They'll never know it through me."

"Bon voyage," he added, blithely, an instant later, his hat in his hand. "And come back soon. I'd like to have you two at my wedding."

[THE END]

"Go-to-School" Knits and Prints

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

DING-DONG goes the bell that sounds the knell of vacation as it rings in "first day of school." And again doting mothers are confronted with the problem of planning practical and as attractive as practical school wardrobes for the children of the household, for as every mother knows much of the poise and happiness of little girls in the classroom depend upon the feeling of self confidence which a pretty frock inspires.

To help in this matter of appareling little daughter to a nicety here are two suggestions we have to offer—knits and prints. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say crochets as well as knits for as much crocheting is being done these days as knitting. Simply a matter of choice. To emphasize the vogue for crochets and prints we are showing three as cunning classroom outfits as ever a fond mother might hope to include in a little girl's clothes collection.

See little Miss Twelve posing to the left in the picture arrayed in an ensemble that couldn't be prettier if it tried. It is crocheted in two shades of blue knit-cro-sheen. For the encouragement of would-be crocheters who feel the urge to copy this most attractive outfit we are telling you that the stitch is very simple and goes like lightning when once you get started. The skirt has gores of the lighter blue and the blouse hidden by the scarf is in matching light blue. It has a stylish high neck that closes with a drawstring. There are crochet buttons to add glamor to the occasion. The cutie-cute bag, the scarf and the hat are crocheted to match.

In a many-piece crocheted outfit as just described, the practical side of the question is self-evident. The blouse, the skirt and the jacket may be worn separately, which means that any number of changes are possible, being just what is a most needful virtue for school togs.

The simplicity and practicality of the blouse-and-skirt two-piece to the right is a big argument in its favor. This crocheted suit for the grammar school Miss is a real find when it comes to appropriate dress for play or for classroom. The blouse contrasts the dark skirt which is in keeping with the present style trend to bring out striking color effects. The wide sailor collar provides a nautical touch. The gay tassel tie gives a final flourish to this most attractive back-to-school dress which is so easily crocheted of mercerized knitting and crochet cotton. We almost forgot to mention the crowning glory of these crocheted garments — they wash perfectly and with as little trouble as a gingham, a pique or any wash fabric.

Picture for yourself little daughter clad in a cunning print such as the little girl centered in the picture is wearing. The grand thing about dresses made of the new prints this season is that it is perfectly safe to buy the correct size for no longer does one have to allow for shrinkage. That is, if the fabric is one of the newer prints that are sanforized shrunk. It means a great deal to know that little daughter's gay print frock will not shrink out of fit in tubbing.

In the washgoods sections one finds the cunningest classroom prints imaginable such as fashions the little girl's dress pictured.

SQUIRREL IN VOGUE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A pleasing topic of conversation among fur stylists and one that is creating no-end enthusiasm, is in regard to the revival of the ever beloved youthful-looking and wonderfully flattering gray squirrel. When you go fur-coat shopping keep this in mind and look for the charming squirrel models that are making so welcome a re-appearance. Perfect for sports and for more formal wear also, is the stunning double-duty coat pictured. It brings back squirrel worked in the striking new split skin fashion.

ALIX SCULPTURES CLOTHES TO FIGURE

Outstanding among silhouettes for fall are those drawn by Alix. Her dresses are fashioned, to display every curve of a rounded, feminine form through masterly manipulation and drapery of soft, clinging fabric. This season, as last, her favorite is jersey, both silk and rayon.

Some of her skirts are so full and flaring that they resemble lampshades or parachutes, while others are caught under the hem like Turkish trousers. Fall coats are cut with a swirling flare.

Evening clothes, particularly, would delight an ancient Greek sculptor. Fullness is concentrated in groups of folds or gathers directly in front or back, not obscuring, but, rather, emphasizing, lovely curving outlines.

Borders of four or five bright colors emphasize the flare at the hem of many evening dresses.

Luxury and Elegance to Dominate Fall Costumes

Elegance and luxury will dominate the mode this autumn if the costumes already appearing are any criterion. Magnificent fabrics, beautifully cut on exquisite lines, is the recipe for late afternoon and informal and formal evening clothes. Typical of this trend is a white dinner ensemble with a long slim skirt of white and silver blistered crepe and a simple surplice bodice of plain silver metal cloth. The shoulders, with double puffs and the tailored lapel collar, are smart notes on the short jacket that is fitted in back and open in front.

Motorist's Buttons

Among the novelty buttons that have made their appearance are those that carry the various road signs for motorists.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

If I had to draw a picture of a woman who makes her living guiding explorers and others in the jungles of British Guiana, I wouldn't choose Mrs. Violet McTurk as my model—I've been to British Guiana and looked at that sullen, brooding jungle. Mrs. McTurk is young, soft-spoken and blonde. Her attractive appearance suggests the beach and sun umbrella of some swanky club rather than the "green hell," as it has been aptly termed. Nevertheless, difficult as it may be to think of a jungle guide as young, soft-voiced and blonde, and especially one with the name Violet, Mrs. McTurk makes her living that way. From November until May she guides explorers, movie expeditions and just plain tourists from Georgetown, the capital of Demerara, to Kaietur Fall, a three-day journey up the Potaro river — and the jungle begins at Georgetown.

Born in Barbadoes, Mrs. McTurk after her marriage seven years ago, went to British Guiana with her husband, who ran freight and dug gold. Their home was on an island in the Potaro, which is a branch of the Essequibo. The island was a sort of kingdom, with friendly dians as subjects. Word passed through the bush that McTurk had married and Indians came from as far away as a hundred miles — in the jungle, a hundred miles is more than a mere bit of pleasant motoring — to look at her and touch her blonde hair and white skin. Four years ago, McTurk died. It was then that Mrs. McTurk became a guide. She averages one trip a month and when not guiding, runs a store at Kangaruma, 168 miles from Georgetown, where miners buy their supplies, the island home having become too lonely after McTurk died. She also supervises Indians who dig gold for her.

Mrs. McTurk is here on a two-months vacation. It is her first visit to New York and she is duly impressed. As a matter of fact, she finds New York far more thrilling than the jungle. Of all the excitement, riding in the subway has supplied her with the most, she said. Then she added that New York is far more lonely than British Guiana—and there is something to that.

Some way or other, I can't take down my hair and have a good cry over these wise guys down in Wall street. When repeal came along, they continued to buy their liquor from the bootleggers who had served them in the more or less dry spell. The reason was that the bootleggers sold various well-known brands at much less than was charged by stores licensed by the state. The bootleggers explained that theirs was smuggled goods and thus they escaped payment of customs and import duties, as well as taxes, and they were willing, for old time's sake to pass along the savings to their customers.

Well, everything went along all right until, as you may have seen, the government took charge of a bunch of gentlemen who had been supplying bootleggers with essential supplies, such as empty bottles with brand names, and revenue and tax stamps. Along with that came the announcement that the Wall street wise guys had been the biggest patrons of the dispensers of fake liquors. And instead of tears, there were snickers.

That reminds me of a well-known writer who took prohibition so seriously that when it went into effect, he buried a supply which he thought, at the rate of one drink a day, would last him the rest of his life. When the bootleg industry began to flourish he took to hooch, laying by what he could, figuring that in time the stream would run dry. Then came repeal and it will still be a couple of months before he gets around to digging up any of his buried treasure. His fear is that he will have completely lost his taste for the McCoy.

One of the busiest Saturday places in New York is Battery park. Many excursion steamers start from there and so crowds congregate. It's an animated scene with picnics getting mixed up with other picnics, and ticket sellers for rival lines moving here and there trying to outshout one another.

MISS NESTER HONORED.

A delightful event of the season of early Indian summer was the compliment of a shower and tea extended Miss Hermina Nester, a bride of this week, Saturday, September 12, at the home of Mrs. Henry Windrow, the occasion also being her birthday anniversary. Receiving hours were from 3 o'clock to 6 o'clock P. M.
Hostesses were Mesdames Windrow,
August Schroeder, Horace Schweers, Wayne Harillee, E. M. Nester, and
R. W. Richter, and Miss Ramona Bailey.

A Mexican motif, in keeping with "diez y seis", was employed in the appointments and decorations. Scarlet blossoms in white pottery bowls and Mexican flags were arranged in the living room, where the guests were greeted by Mrs. Windrow, Miss Nester, her mother, Mrs. W. J. Nester, and her grandmother, Mrs. R. W.
Richter.

Miss Hettie Nester, sister of the honoree, presided over the bride's book. Mrs. E. M. Nester was in charge of the gifts.

The tea table was covered with a handsome lace cloth and centered with green and red Mexican poinsettas in a white pottery bowl. Red candles in white pottery holders also adorned the refreshment board and effectively lighted the scene. Alternating in serving were Mrs. Harillee, Mrs. Schroeder, Mrs. Schweers and Miss Bailey. Refreshments of Neopolitan ice cream, cake squares iced in white and topped with tiny Mexican flags, and red and white mints were served.

Mrs. Windrow wore a royal blue afternoon dress with a corsage of pink gladioli. Miss Hermina Nester was attractive in a lace afternoon gown of a deep vintage hue with a corsage of velvet flowers in warm autumnal shades at the waist.
Mrs. Nester wore black satin-back crepe tunic dress and a shoulder bouquet of white asters. Mrs.
Richter was in black and white with white aster corsage.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED.

Miss Jewell Riff, a bride-elect of this month, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Sunday afternoon, September 13, at the Murphy School, with Mrs. Robt. Riff, Mrs. Emil Riff,
Mrs. Jim Garrison, Miss Ruby Dell Weber, and Miss Evelyn Mann as hostesses.

The color scheme of pink and white was carried out for all appointments. While a march was played on the victrola, Master Douglas Riff, dressed in a white linen suit, and little Miss Ethel Riff, dressed in pink crepe, led the honoree to her place of honor which was also decorated in the chosen colors. Miss Riff was attractively dressed in peacock blue crepe with brown accessories.

Miss Eugenia Riff, cousin of the bride-to-be, read the following toast:
TO JEWEL.

As we gather today to greet you,
Pringing our presents along,
We hope your heart is filled with joy

And your bosom swelling in song!
Today is a day in a thousand—
But to you it is the one
When you come to meet those numerous friends.

Whose affections you have won.
Today we bring our blessings,
To wish you well in life;
And hope that you will always be
Your hubby's loving little wife.
And, too, we hope that health and wealth

Will scurry to your side
And stay there, mingled with happiness.

And forever with you abide.
Immediately following the toast the little tots brought in a wagon which was decorated in pink and white and laden with shower gifts for the bride-to-be.

After the beautiful gifts were admired by all and Miss Riff expressed her thanks and appreciation for them, the hostesses served refreshments consisting of white coconut cake, pink and white ice cream. Little pink and white baskets filled with mints served as plate favors.

About ninety guests registered in the bride's book which was hand-printed by Misses Naomi and Elyn Stienle.

Cotton shipments for the past two the season's shipments up to 225 this at about 50% of the crop. If this figure holds out 1936's crop will exceed that of 1935 by over 200%.

At the summer commencement of The University of Texas, Master's degrees were conferred on 193 graduate students, in addition to the approximately four hundred candidates for the various bachelor's degrees.
Each candidate for the master's degree was required to complete a certain amount of work in both a major and a minor subject, in some instances in two minors, and to write a thesis embodying the results of his original research work in some particular phase of his major subject.
Among candidates receiving these degrees we find James Gordon Barry of Hondo, education and Spanish; thesis, "An Administrative Survey of the Public Schools of Medina County, Texas"; bachelor of arts, Baylor University, 1927.

The sad news was received here
Thursday of the death of Mr. D. A.
Sullivan, father of Mrs. Richard Reilly of Hondo, which occurred on September 10, 1936, at his home in Centerville, Texas. Mrs. Reilly and little daughter, Ann, had gone to his bedside earlier in the week. Mr.
Reilly and daughter, Miss Lela Grace, left Thursday night for Centerville to attend the funeral which was held Friday. On Sunday Miss Lela Grace went to Waco where she entered Baylor University, and on Tuesday of this week Mr. Reilly returned home, leaving Mrs. Reilly and Ann for a longer stay. Among the deceased man's survivors are Mrs.
Reilly of Hondo, another daughter, Mrs. Arthur Reinhart of Del Rio, and a son, Mr. Herman Sullivan, of Sabi-nal. The many friends of the bereaved family extend deepest sympathy.

FILM FARE IMPRESSIVE.

Two impressive offerings and a new laugh-provoking film are scheduled for the Colonial Theatre this week. Showing currently is the "Story of Louis Pasteur", with Paul Muni in the title role, and Josephine Hutchinson, Anita Louise and Den-ald Woods in the cast. It deals with the life and struggle of Louis Pasteur, imbued with his all-absorbing desire to help mankind and fight for recognition of his theory of microbes as the cause of all disease.

"Florida Special", Paramount's newest mystery-thriller-laugh film shows Monday and Tuesday. It offers Funnymen Jack Oakie and pretty Sally Eilers in the featured roles, and Frances Drake, Kent Taylor, Claude
Gillingwater, Sam "Schlepperman" Hearn, Sidney Blackmer and J. Farrell MacDonald in the large supporting cast. "Florida Special" is a fast-paced tale of an eccentric millionaire who transports a million dollars worth of diamonds to Florida in a briefcase chained to his secretary.
The climax is humorous and highly dramatic.

The second distinctive production to show Wednesday and Thursday is Warner Bros. film, "Anthony Adverse", an adaptation of the Hervey Allen novel. Fredric March has the role of Adverse. In the cast are Olivia DeHavilland, Donald Woods,
Anita Louise, Claude Rains, Louis
Hayward and others. The story deals with the different phases of Anthony's life: the tragedy of his birth, his childhood, his apprenticeship, his marriage to a beautiful wife whom he must leave to go to Africa, his life there and his return to France, and his embarking for America, there to start life again.

USED BY COURTESY THE OWL.

ROCKSPRING'S 1935 BI-DISTRICT CHAMPS PLAY OWLS HERE.

Owls To Flash New Uniforms.

The Hondo Owls will start the 1936 football season Friday at about 7 P. M. when they meet the Rock Springs Bulldogs who were bi-district champions last year. This game will be played on the local field and will give Hondo fans a chance to support their team in the first game. There will be only two other games played here this season, one with Devine and the other with Uvalde, both of them later in the season.

The Owls started practice in the latter part of August, and should be in good condition by now. Those included on the squad this year are: J. H. Rothe (captain), Babo Win-drow, Walter Nester, Jack Fitzpat-rick, Howard Huesser, Bonard Rothe, Monroe Langford, Harry Kollman, Bertram Eckhart, Clinton Grell, and Dalton Pennington (all backfield men), and the linemen: Otis Neuman, Jack Hartung, Elmer Joe Leinweber, Charles Finger, George Rucker, Mon-roe Rucker, Burleigh Smith, John Cameron, Tommie Danie, Jerome Finger, Glenn Pope, David Williams, Anthony Jungman, Fred Bader, John Inman, Wesley Moehring, John Jennings, Ralph Stiegler, and Leslie Earl Holloway. Come on out students, and root for the Owls and help them to win their first game and see their swell new suits.

The Owls' schedule for the year is as follows:

September 18—Rocksprings at Hondo.
September 25—Pearsall at Pear-sall.
October 2—Bastrop at Bastrop (night game).
October 9—Alamo Heights at San Antonio.
October 16—Smithville at Smith-ville (night game).
October 23—Uvalde at Hondo.
October 30—Devine at Hondo.
November 6—Del Rio at Del Rio (night game).
November 20—Sabinal at Sabinal.

Owlets—H. H. S. HAS LARGE ENROLLMENT.

The enrollment for the coming year is larger than those of the past few years. There are thirty Seniors, twenty-nine Juniors, forty-four Soph-mores, and forty-six Freshmen. The class sponsors are as follows:

Miss Adams—Seniors.
Mr. Gibson—Juniors.
Mr. DuBose—Sophomores.
Mr. Moses—Freshmen.
Mr. Laxson—Seventh Grade.
Miss Hodges—Sixth Grade.
Miss Shaw—Fifth Grade.
Miss Spratt—Fourth Grade.
Miss Scott—Third Grade.
Miss Connor—Second Grade.
Miss Fly—First Grade.

Owlets—IMPROVEMENTS.

We students have found that quite a few improvements and changes have been made in the high school since last May. The book room has been replaced with Mr. McDowell's office. Our Home Economics room was subject to a great improvement, that of having screens at the doors into the hall. Several subjects are taught in different rooms this year. The typing desks were moved to the English room and our English classes are now being taught in the Math room. History and Spanish are taught in the customary rooms. The Freshman class is so very large this year that the Study Hall is also serving for the purpose of a home room for this class.

Owlets—HOORAY FOR THE SENIORS.

The Seniors got off to an early start with a class meeting the very first day of school. They met Mon-day at one P. M. and decided upon the class rings and invitations. In order to get through the ordeal more quickly a committee was appointed by the Senior sponsor, Miss Adams, to select four or five rings from the salesman's assortment. From these selected the Senior Class ring of '37 was chosen.

The invitations were also decided upon at this time. The results of the three hour session were no fights, no hard feelings, and the settlement of two major Senior problems.

Dr. Lancet—I find that you have acute appendicitis.
Miss Sapley—Oh, doctor, you are such a flatterer!

HONDO FUTURE FARMERS WIN AT PEARSALL.

The Hondo Chapter of Future Farmers of America won the dairy cattle judging contest at Pearsall last Saturday. The team was composed of John Henry Britsch, Murrel Stiegler, and Elmo Pope. Hugh Meyer judged as an alternate and won the medal for high point man in the dairy contest. He was followed closely by John Henry Britsch.

The results of the contest were as follows:

High point men in dairy contest—Hugh Meyer and John Henry Britsch. High point men in livestock judg-ing—Lenord Rumfield (Dilley) and Charles Saathoff (D'Hanis) tied for first.

Team rating in each contest with total score:

Dairy Cattle Judging Contest:
Hondo, first, with 780 points.
Sabinal, second, with 765 points.
Cotulla, third, with 750 points.
Livestock Judging Contest:
Cotulla, first (tie), with 780 points.
Dilley, first (tie), with 780 points.
Yancey, second, with 765 points.
D'Hanis, 3rd (tie), with 735 points.
Sabinal, 3rd (tie) with 735 points.
Hondo, fourth, with 705 points.

A cup was given to the team which scored the most points from both contests. The results:

Cotulla, first, with a total of 1530 points.
Dilley, second, with a total of 1515 points.

Sabinal, third, with a total of 1500 points.

Hondo, fourth, with a total of 1480 points.

Carrizo Springs and Crystal City also had judging teams. There were 60 boys who took part in this contest. It is planned that this will be an annual attraction to the Winter Garden Fair. The purpose of this contest is to train boys so this district will have a better chance in taking hon-ors at A. & I. and at A. & M. con-ests next spring.

The Chapter gave a program before the entire high school Friday evening. The idea which was carried out should familiarize the school with the working and purpose of the Future Farmers of America organization.

Each year the Chapter sets up a list of objectives to work toward ac-complishing sometime during the year. They make their goal high in order to receive the most good out of the organization.

Owlets—CHORAL CLUB ACTIVITIES.

Last May the Choral Club elected its officers for the following year.

Those elected were: Jo Reily, presi-dent; Merle McCall, vice-president; Ginger Fusselman, secretary and treasurer; Gwen Gray, reporter; and Anna Marie Saathoff, librarian. The pianist was not elected at the time, but as Adelle Scott is the most re-liaible and efficient girl, she was ap-pointed to that position. Miss Wilma Spratt is directing the Choral Club again this year.

There are forty members in the Club, twenty-five altos and fifteen sopranos.

The Choral Club expects to do big things this year. As yet, nothing concerning the schedule has been definitely decided upon. The girls expect to give two radio programs, enter contests, namely at Seguin and Kingsville, give one or two operettas, have programs at P. T. A. and chap-el, cooperate with the H. E. girls in giving a musical style show, and last, entertain with the usual Glee Club banquet.

Members of the Choral Club are as follows:

PECAN CROP SHORT ALONG
MEDINA RIVER.

Word comes from Macdona and other communities along the Medina River to the effect that the pecan crop this year will be very short and the pecan shelling plants that have been depending upon this area for pecans will have to look elsewhere for their nuts. The cause for the shortage is traceable largely to insects and plant diseases and, according to some, the high winds and dust storms during the pollinating period did a great deal of the damage.

The crop last year was not regarded as normal although a good many nuts were gathered from some of the groves, but this year is said to be much shorter than the crop of last year.

NEW LAKE ROAD UP TO GOVERNOR.

The State Highway Commission and Gov. James V. Allred will be asked to give audience here next weekend to Medina, Bander and Bexar Counties in their desire for a scenic highway from Castroville to Pipe Creek, skirting Medina Lake on the east side, and one or more state roads intercepting it out of San Antonio.

This announcement was made by Jesse N. Fletcher, president of San Antonio Junior Chamber of Commerce, following a conference Saturday afternoon in Porter Loring's lodge at the lake with commissioners' courts of Medina and Bander Counties, representatives of San Antonio and Uvalde of the Works Progress Administration, and others.

Invitations to the state officials have been prepared by Medina and Bander Counties, to be supplement-missioners probably joining in, Fletcher said. The toll roads are the main approaches to Medina Lake

now.—Monday's San Antonio Ex-

MEN'S HIGH GRADE WORK CLOTHES AT GREEN TAG STORE

Yancey Schools opened September 8 with an initial excess over enrollment for the preceding year. Since many of the Latin-American pupils do not enroll until the second month of the term, the increase in the increase in attendance will be considerably greater than previous years.

The beginning day was given over to the registration of elementary and high school pupils being held the week preceding, and the observance of the traditional annual banquet. On this date the parents are hosts to the students and body. A delusion is spread and is thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. The event is to acquaint the faculty with the parents, and the patrons with the program for the year.

The high school enrollment figures is showing a marked increase, necessitating the requiring of additional texts. In the commercial department the registration is in excess of anticipation and the ward accrediting is well under way. The enrollment in the Vocational Agriculture department has increased beyond the standard requirement, and the Superintendent has notified of this department's advancement to a seventy-five basis for this school year.
Farker, the District Supervisor school this week, endorsing its progress and complimenting the early

Stormy weather out on the Gulf brought rainy weather to most of Texas this week, breaking a drouth that was becoming serious in some areas but unfortunately bringing floods to other areas. Medina County fared better than most places. The drouth had not reached damaging proportions and the 3.28 inches of rainfall over the week has practically all soaked into the soil, putting it in an ideal condition for fall plowing. At the same time the gentle fall and absence of wind minimized to almost nothing the damage to crops still in the fields. Jupiter Pluvius has been good to Medina County.

"The Man Who O-O"

Tales and Traditions from American Political History

FRANK E. HAGEN AND ELMO SCOTT WATSON

BY ONE VOTE

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES of Ohio, nineteenth President of the United States, can be designated "the man who was elected by a single vote."

His contest with Samuel J. Tilden of New York, the Democratic nominee, threatened for a time in 1876 and early 1877 to bring about a resumption of the Civil war. Perhaps it explains in some measure the bitterness of battles today between Republicans and Democrats.

Hayes faced the disadvantage of running in the wake of the eight years of the Grant administrations, followed as they were by sensational accusations of financial frauds. There was little to choose between abilities of the candidates and when first returns were in, Tilden was acclaimed as winner.

Shortly after election day, it was revealed that Tilden's managers were uncertain as to the results their party had achieved in Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana. Normally Democratic, these states still were in the hands of carpet-bagger governments.

Tilden had 184 electoral votes and the ballots of any of the three states named would have elected him. Hayes, with 166, needed all of them to have one more electoral vote than Tilden. In Louisiana, the canvassing board threw out 13,250 Democratic votes and gave the state to Hayes. Republicans asserted their candidate had won in both South Carolina and Florida. But Democrats of the three states returned votes for Tilden.

To make the situation a typical American scene, congress was divided, one branch being Democratic, the other Republican.

It was decided finally to appoint five congressmen from each party and five judges of the Supreme court to make the decision as to which set of returns from the disputed states should be accepted.

The election of Hayes was assured by the vote of Justice Bradley, whose participation gave the deliberative body a margin of eight Republicans to seven Democrats. And congress approved these momentous findings just in time to enable Rutherford B. Hayes to take the oath of office as President.

NAMING A PARTY

IRONICALLY enough, the names of the two principal political parties once were combined as Democratic Republicans, a group of which the standard bearer was Thomas Jefferson, referred to perhaps often than any other leader when Democrats trace their political origin.

Under Jackson the party name was shortened to Democrat, which it continues to bear.

Republicans emerged as a separate party as early as 1854, although its first nominating convention was held two years later. Up at Ripon, Wis., in a corner of the campus of Ripon college, stands the Ripon Congregational church, scene of the first G. O. P. meeting.

The Ripon meeting had been called by Major Alvan E. Bovay, a Whig lawyer, who generally receives credit for suggesting the name of the party.

He had passed on his idea to Horace Greeley who later advocated the name Republican at a convention in Jackson, Mich.

Although Ripon had a voting list that hardly exceeded 100 in those days of exclusively male suffrage, more than half of them attended Bovay's first gathering. The impulse which brought them together was the conviction that the slavery question was coming rapidly to a head and that those who opposed must unite in a new group, regardless of geographical lines.

Northern states naturally proved the most fertile ground for spreading the new doctrine. Before the party's first national convention, which was held in Philadelphia on June 17, 1856—a firm "toehold" had been secured by senatorial representation at Washington.

History fails to record what part, if any, Major Bovay played in the Philadelphia meeting. The delegates were unanimously in favor of nominating John C. Fremont and he was selected on the first ballot.

Another Republican attended, however. He was the gangling Illinois rail-splitter, Abe Lincoln, and some of his colleagues had the temerity to advance his name as a candidate for vice-president. "Honest Abe" lost the nomination but four years later he was to carry the party to victory.

Rivers That Flow North

The St. Johns River in Florida is supposedly the only river in the United States which flows northward throughout its entire course. There are others, however, which flow north for a part of their course. These include the Monongahela in Pennsylvania, the Tennessee in Tennessee and Kentucky, the Red River of the North in Minnesota and North Dakota, Big Horn in Wyoming and Montana, Powder in Wyoming and Montana.

Golden Johannesburg

Pyramids of Dross at Johannesburg.

Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

THE Golden Jubilee of Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, is marked by the opening of the Empire Exhibition of South Africa. Two million visitors are expected as a minimum during the four months' duration of this, the first exhibition outside the British Isles purporting to reflect activities of the entire British Empire, which embraces about one-fourth of the entire earth's land area.

The Jubilee for Johannesburg is "golden" in more ways than one. In claiming a place among the world's most prosperous, this city needs only to mention that it is the center for the ten-billion-dollar gold industry of the Witwatersrand, discovered in 1886.

Thus Johannesburg is the city that gold built. Just fifty years ago George Walker, out for a stroll, accidentally stubbed his toe and kicked into a gold-bearing outcrop of what proved to be the main reef of the Witwatersrand. Here, shaped like a vast bowl imbedded face-upward, was a 70-mile stretch of gold-impregnated rock, now familiarly known as the Rand and surely one of the richest gold fields in the world.

Immediately, upon that treeless uninhabited no-man's-land there appeared a tawdry mining village of tents and covered wagons. Telegraph wires hummed and the village became a raw tin-shack town of 3,000 people.

The prevailing crude process of mining and treatment of ore lost half the gold worked. Yet who cared, since the Reef seemed inexhaustible? Supplies were teamed from 300 miles away. Yet who minded fancy prices? And, as to the water shortage, "All right; let's bring in champagne!"

Thus began the babyhood of Johannesburg, which is to-day, though a mere youth of fifty years, a giant in achievement. The largest African town south of Cairo and chief commercial plexus of the South African Union's hinterland, "Jo'burg" has a municipal area of nearly 82 square miles and some 300,000 people, or about half the population of the Reef, upon which rises this city built on gold.

Now a Cosmopolitan City

A town of such spectacular beginnings needs time to settle down to life's quieter realities. Today, 50 years young and quite used to having an annual $225,000,000 worth of gold dug up, so to speak, in its back yard, the City of the Reef presents the aspects of a well-rounded cosmopolitanism.

One might expect such fine public buildings as the Town Hall, the Law Courts, and the Stock Exchange. Few visitors, however, would anticipate the planned beauty of some of Johannesburg's suburbs, or the spaciousness of its parks and recreation fields, or its support of art, medical research, and of so impressive an academic seat as the Witwatersrand University.

It is reported that growth even within the past few years has accelerated, to keep time with the amazing boom in the value of gold. Tall buildings are taller and more frequent on the skyline of this South African metropolis—and still going up!

As for the city's play-hour aspects, one might mention innumerable clubs, race meets, sporting events, motor cars like peas in a pod, and as for motorcycles—watch your step! In off hours the City Built on Gold forgets its world-important mining interests in such relaxations as a quiet game of bowls on swards as smooth as golf greens. For Johannesburgers are one with Drake in their love of bowling greens and the very same game which tradition says the great Elizabethan was playing with the captains of his fleet when couriers brought news of the sighting of the Armada.

Mines of the Rand

Strangely impressive, as one approaches Johannesburg, are these miles upon miles of mine dumps surrounding the Witwatersrand gold fields and stretching across the vast plain like avenues of mammoth monuments. Indeed, South Africa also has its pyramids—pyramids of waste material, running into millions of tons of fine white sands, left from the gold-extracting processes. Their sloping sand-hued massifs suggest military fortifications on a scale the world has never known. The Witwatersrand mines present a unique sight. Above ground is a confusing mass of vats, trolleys, bins, trestles supporting pipes and machinery, dumps, headgears topped by cables and whirling wheels, and various structures of wood and iron. Workmen, who are "underground commuters," descend by "skip" (lift) into the interior at the speed of an express elevator for well over a mile into the depths of the earth.

Johannesburgers dig holes as grandiosely as Americans rear skyscrapers—more grandiosely. The shafts of the deepest mine on the Rand at present descend over 8,000 feet, approximately a mile and a half. Plans are under way for mining to the depth of 10,000 feet, nearly two miles.

A trip below the surface reveals to you a subterranean electric-lit town, with avenues and cross streets, where thousands of men are drilling and loading the gold-bearing conglomerate. It gives you the impression of cleanliness, neatness, and—thanks to the giant elevators—of a not-too-uncomfortable warmth.

You stay long enough to watch a surface hoist start off with a load weighing over nine tons which it will lift up that mile or more of shaft to the crushing and reduction plant in about two minutes. Then you too may ascend once more to what, measuring shafts by skyscrapers, the elevator operator might conceivably announce as "Two hundredth floor, last stop!"

What you have glimpsed is but a tiny corner of what is, in effect, a vast underground city, whose axis measures 70 miles, whose workers number over 300,000 and whose shafts, avenues, and streets exceed 4,000 miles, or approximately the length of the African continent.

Sports of the Natives

How to handle that grand total of 212,000 men, 90 per cent of them Bantu, who, either above ground or under it, work on the Rand?

Recreation—whether golf, tennis, bowls, swimming, or native dances—is universal, with inter-mine sport as a corollary. As to health and safety, each man regularly undergoes medical examination, first aid is taught to many thousands, while that cheery organ, The Reef, advises you on everything, from keeping fit to giving accident-prevention tips to American visitors in what is thought to be Americanese.

As to native recreation, the "boys" weekly war dance rivals a circus, a rodeo, and a football match combined. Here is a native compound disgorging its thousands of black Shangaans who are welcoming other thousands of black M'Chopis, the former tribe's invited guests. A pell-mell pageant of savage magnificence! All are superb in leopard skins, beads, head plumes, oxtail knee adornments.

Iron and Diamonds, Too

How explain the Reef? How was this treasure house built? In order to comprehend, we must imagine successive geologic cataclysms—molten rock being ejected from the interior of the earth; long-vanished seas rushing in to lay sediments thereon; then the sea's retirement, and in its place some great, prehistoric river sweeping through auriferous regions to deposit its granular gold among that three-mile depth of marine sediment.

But the Transvaal, like South Africa in general, is as varied in respect to treasure houses as was ancient Delphi, with its "treasures." In the Pretoria region, and also near Rustenburg and in the "Bushveld Complex," there are apparently unlimited iron resources, while the last-named region promises to yield one of the greatest platinum deposits in the world.

And then there are the ever-cropping-up diamonds—one might almost say, those irrepressible South African diamonds. Really, one never knows where they will turn up next.

And, just to illustrate how South African diamonds keep cropping up, here is a glimpse of the Lichtenburg alluvial diggings west of Johannesburg. Not ten years ago Lichtenburg was a tiny, willow-shaded Sleepy Hollow of a dorp—sleepy, perhaps dreaming, but certainly not of diamonds. But suddenly one day appeared some 25,000 men, who lined up for the official pistol shot, then rushed pell-mell to peg their claims on what had proved to be a diamond field fifteen miles long by five miles wide.

what Irvin Cobb thinks about:

Camels and Communists

FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ.—There's nothing new about the fable. The only novelty is in the moral.

One night a camel came and begged to be allowed to poke his cold nose inside an Arab's tent.

So the Arab, being a good-hearted Arab, says yes. Pretty soon the camel claimed his ears were chilly and could he shove in as far as his ears? And the Arab said that was O. K.

Next the camel got permission to put his neck in out of the weather, and, after that, his forelegs and then his front hump, closely followed by his rear hump, and finally his hindquarters.

When morning came the camel was inside the tent, completely filling it, and the Arab had been crowded outside and there he was—poor shivering wretch, as homeless as a ha'nt.

Moral—Every time I hear of an imported Communist smuggling himself into our midst, I think of a cold-nosed camel.

Holding the Bag.

UP TO now our government has declined all invitations to jump into the Italian-German-French-Russian-British snarl, but watch for an effort to induce America to join in when the time comes for dividing up control over poor old Spain's ports, islands and remaining colonial possessions.

Not that we'd want anything out of the grab-bag and not that they'd give us anything. They'd merely expect us to hold the bag afterwards, which would make two bags in all—this little new one and the big one we've been holding ever since 1918.

Travelers' Homecoming.

CALIFORNIA travel bureaus report an increase of incoming tourists. But then again, on the other hand, part of it may be due to returning residents who went hurriedly away when the papers started printing a certain romantic diary. If your sins do not always find you out, at least they frequently find you getting out.

It's all over now and peace and quiet have been restored to our home circles, but at the height of the rush one involuntarily was reminded of the ancient story of the Frenchman who bet with his friend he could prove every man, however outwardly pure, had a dreaded secret in his life. So, to test it, he sent to each of the ten most respected notables in Paris an anonymous telegram reading as follows: "All is discovered. Flee at once." And next morning nine of them were gone and the tenth had committed suicide.

"Backward" British Justice.

ENGLISH news-reel producers have been fined $10,000—and that's important money in any language—for titling a film "An Attempt on the King's Life."

Mind you, they weren't punished for any injury this title might do his majesty. Incredible though it sounds to us, the charge was: "Contempt of court for prejudicing the case against McMahon (the man who tried to shoot King Edward) before he was brought to trial."

For contrast, take a not altogether forgotten criminal case.

Possibly you may remember a certain murderer's trial and what sort of publicity went before it, and what actually occurred whilst 'twas being held, and what the aftermath has been, with attorneys and key-witnesses and—yes—actually some of the jurors peddling their private views for public consumption; and the governor of a great state displaying curious and violent activities, even when the verdict had been called a fair one by the high courts?

Backward race, these Britishers, trying people by the evidence and not by the newspapers and the moving-picture cameras.

A Gentleman's Dinner.

BACK EAST, a distinguished continental chef rises up to outline the American gentleman's ideal dinner. He names eight courses, which is too many, and no domestic flavor about any part of it.

In rebuttal, I crave to offer a menu of all native products.

First, Lynnhaven oysters on the half shell, with western celery and ripe olives.

Second, terrapin stew.

Third, rice-fed canvasback duck, with lye hominy and a baked wine-sap apple.

Fourth, one very small slice of hickory-and-sassafras-cured, razor-back ham with watercress salad, soured in a plain oil and vinegar dressing.

Fifth, toasted southern beaten biscuit and a mere morsel of old-fashioned country rat cheese—preferably from Herkimer county, New York.

Shirtwaister for School Girl

Here is the frock for juniors to make for school days. A combination of rhythm in its hemline, rhyme in its color scheme and racy in its style. For late summer wear, try tub silk, linen, cotton or shantung with long or short sleeves. For autumn and winter—"tweedie" silk crepe or broadcloth.

The waist, gathered slightly to the shoulder yoke front and back, has a center pleat and pockets for trimming. Buttons—a matter of choice. A small collar, tie, and belt complete this most effective frock. By way of suggestion, make the collar and cuffs in contrast, and detachable to be readily removed for laundering.

PLAYING THE GAME.

From THE OWL.

Football fans sometimes forget that a game may be lost or won on the sidelines as well as on the field. Of course, the actual score is not affected, but there is more to winning the game than earning the highest number of points. It is just as important to win a reputation for good sportsmanship as for high scores. Athletics, in common with other phases of education, is for character building as well as for physical development. Characters are not built through poor sportsmanship.

It is the privilege—even the duty—of fans to support the team through cheering. This is not done by "mud slinging" or slurring remarks directed at the opposing team. Such remarks as "give him the works" and "who said you could play football?" are not in keeping with the spirit of good sportsmanship. The impartial observer notes the poor or fine spirit of the fans and judges the team accordingly. Is it fair to earn the team a reputation for poor sportsmanship—to lose the game on the sidelines for the boys who win it out on the field?

Intermittent showers Sunday and Monday amounted to about one inch, and while no rain fell here Monday night vivid flashes of lightning to the north indicated that a cloudburst of rain was falling in that direction. The rain fell in the upper San Geronimo Creek and an unprecedented rise was recorded, which waters sent the Medina River on a ten-foot rise. The river receded towards noon but the cloudburst also fell into the head waters of the Medina and water began early in the morning pouring over the spillway at the Medina Lake, and at two o'clock in the afternoon the river again began rising and rose about ten feet. It had receded about a foot Wednesday morning. Weather still looks threatening at this writing.
